
Membership in International Networks

Charles University is involved in the activities of a number of prestigious networks and organizations. Their purpose is to create a common higher education and research area, scientific networks, to share examples of good practice and making the universities' position visible in the world context.

		